Welcome to Pont-y-pair
This is the home of the giants!

The giant Douglas fir trees around Betws-y-coed were planted as saplings in the 1920s and now weigh over 10 tonnes each.

You can walk from here to see these splendid giants at their best by following the easy graded boardwalk and footpath along the banks of the Llugwy. Natural Resources Wales and the Community Council created this path in partnership.

Three Natural Resources Wales waymarked trails start from this end of the town and take you up through forested hillsides, past mines, lakes, meadows, cliffs and streams. Use these trails to explore this ancient and varied landscape.
